5-9-1968

Current, May 09, 1968

Richard Dagger

University of Missouri-St. Louis

Follow this and additional works at: http://irl.umsl.edu/current1960s

Recommended Citation
http://irl.umsl.edu/current1960s/41

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at IRL @ UMSL. It has been accepted for inclusion in Current (1960s) by an authorized administrator of IRL @ UMSL. For more information, please contact marvinh@umsl.edu.
Sex Lecture Packs 120

Attesting to "negotiations" some of the sex myths, Dr. Masters and Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Washington University spoke before a packed auditorium 120 Benson Friday evening May 3. Dr. Masters and Mrs. Johnson are co-authors of "Human Sexual Response." The research for the book took over ten years, beginning in 1954, and deals with the physiology of sexual response in males and females.

Surveying the crowd which filled even the aisles, Dr. Masters joked, "We never have to worry about finding audiences." If his introduction was light, it was countered by a straightforward, earnest lecture which dealt with subjects ranging from masturbation, to simultaneous orgasm, to the similarities of a female in orgasm and a female in childbirth.

One of the beliefs that the researchers found to be untrue was that there is automatically female orgasm derived from masturbation.

A Stitch in Time! by John Prunty

"Necessity is the mother of invention" and how aptly John Prunty applied this old adage last Saturday after having ripped his pants at the Spring Formal. Unable to find a safety pin amidst the scores of formal attire and tuxedos, John stealthily descended the sixteen floors of the Gateway Hotel and slipped from shadow to shadow through the downtown streets, finally he entered a Katz Drug Store, and, buried amidst confused looks, purchased a sewing kit.

Furtively retracting his steps, ascending the elevator, creeping, "back-to-wall," with much relief he entered the men's room, where, clad only in a cummerbund, white shirt, and black socks, he displayed unusual talent as a seamstress, patching up the pants derived from masturbation.

Art's & Sciences Departments Consider Requirement Changes

Following the changes in the general education requirements, the various departments in the School of Arts and Sciences have been working out changes in the upper-level requirements for degree candidates. In almost all cases, these changes are as yet only suggestions, and are not final. The departments have been getting together during the week to work out some uniformity in degree requirements.

The chemistry, biology and economics departments of the faculty have advocated no changes in their requirements. Physics department has made two changes: 1) the faculty examinative common exam will not be required unless the A. B. or B. S. programs; and 2) in the A. B. program, no seminar will be required.

The English department has suggested the following changes: 1) two semesters of survey courses instead of only one; 2) English is the construction of the English Language will not be required but will still be highly recommended; 3) of the six periods of literature, four will be required by the department; and 4) the seminar courses would no longer be required.

The only changes suggested by the Fine Arts department would be to reduce senior requirements from 5 hours to 3, and a one semester course for readings and seminars.

The History department has made the additional requirement of the Senior Readings and Seminar courses.

The changes in the Math-department would entail dropping the readings and seminars courses as required courses, as well as dropping comprehensive examinations.

No comprehensive would be required, according to changes suggested by the Languages and Psychology departments. In addition, the Language department has suggested making Senior Seminar optional instead of compulsory.

The Psychology department, because of changes in the math requirement in the General Education requirements, has suggested a co-requisite of either Math 10 or an exam given by the department; Sociology and Anthropology department has suggested dropping Junior Readings and Anthropology.

The Current was unable to contact anyone from the Political Science, Philosophy departments for any suggested rule changes.

The rules changes that have been suggested will be amended and/or accepted until a uniform set of requirements has been made for all the departments to follow, saidDean Driscoll.

Faculty Member, Student Awarded Research Grants

Dr. Susan Hartman, an assistant professor of English at UMSL, has received a $1,000 grant-in-aid from the Harry S. Truman Institute of National and International Affairs, a part of the Truman Library Foundation.

Dr. Hartman's grant will be used to foster her in performing research for a monograph to be entitled "President Truman and the 80th Congress" (1947-48). The bulk of her research will be performed this summer at the Truman Library Institute in Independence, Missouri.

Ms. Hartman, a native of St. Louis, will travel to study and review various congressional letters and documents related to her study.

Dr. Hartman received her Ph.D. degree in 1966 from the University of Missouri-Columbia and has been on the St. Louis campus faculty since September of the same year. At UMSL, she teaches a survey course in American history, a "recent period" history course, and a senior seminar course for history majors.

Robert W. Fluchel, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at UMSL, has been awarded a National Defense Education Act Fellowship to do graduate work in psychology.

Fluchel, 21, will enroll this fall in a graduate program in the Department of Biological Sciences, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

A high graduate of Normandy High School, Fluchel will receive from UMSL the fellowship a stipend of $2,000 and a first year dependency allowance of $400, which will be increased by $200 for the second and third years of study. The fellowship also carries a stipend of $500 for each summer session.

Library Completion Set for July

According to a press release from the Office of Public Information, the University Library is scheduled for completion in July. The building, which will house all additional floors may be added later, will seat up to 1,000 persons and have stack facilities for 540,000 volumes.

The College of Arts and Sciences was given by the department; and 4) the semi-

The facility will feature open stacks, tables seating four and individual carrels for private study.

Completion of the library will allow for the display of some recent valuable volumes in the stacks, including 8,500 topographical maps of the United States donated by the Museum of Science and Natural History and a large number of valuable volumes given to the University when the St. Louis Academy of Science was disbanded.

Lutherans Push Clothing Drive

The UMSL chapter of Gamma Delta, an international organization for Lutheran college students, is sponsoring a clothing drive. The drive started May 1, and will last through Thursday, May 16.

Clothes can be contributed by leaving them in the boxes located in Benton Hall and in the Administration building. The donated clothing will be distributed among any needy persons living in the inner-city, Appalachia, Viet Nam, Algeria, and the Congo.

Clothing for all ages and of all kinds is accepted.
Mephistopheles' Manor

Epitaph for Dr. Saigh

Saigh can be consummated in the words:

"When his life is finally over and done
And the last chapters are written
He will know that his life has been rich and full
For he lived in the students' behalf.

Farewell, Dr. Saigh.

Another "apathetic" student

by Tom Eckert

Language Requirements

I want to express my opinion concerning the changes in the general education requirements. It was reported in the Current (April 4 edition) that in the opinion of Dr. Charles T. Dougherty, Chairman of the University Curriculum Committee, there are already other members of the faculty who voted for 10 "the change would eliminate negative attitudes" and give all students an element of choice. Since then, at a meeting held by the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences, it was decided that 14 hours of a language were indeed necessary and should be required. This raises the question of what is so vitally important about a foreign language that it merits an intrusion into the 14 hour limit. At this juncture, the students' time allocation is almost half of the minimum of 30 hours required for a major!!!

Granted, there are arguments that in the value of the course, it may be necessary for graduate school, or it may be cultural in a liberal education. The problem is, however, is it really necessary in any general area? This seems to me to be a little out of proportion.

I debated with myself seriously before arriving at a decision to write this article, thinking it was just one of my own hang-ups about not liking French class. I discussed it with others and thought considerably about whether or not anything could be less informative and less required in any general area! This seems to me to be a little out of proportion.

I was told me this, also felt it was rather a waste of time, and most said if they had a choice they would choose something more interesting to them.

What really do we mean by a liberal education? What real meaning do the re-calculated liberal education have in our lives just to be able to say that we have successfully fulfilled the requirements?

I can't see how any course chosen by a student in his field of interest or otherwise would be less valuable than any chosen and required by a faculty.

I urge improving the system of advising or encouraging the use of the counseling service would eliminate too random selection of unrelated and useless courses. Help a student to vary a somewhat narrow choice. The language would still be offered and those interested or factors would still help the student to decide it. What is useless and what is interesting to one is not for another. It just isn't possible to be unimportant or liberal when one is so interested. In education, liberal or otherwise?

A university is made of teachers and students, both indispensable to the other. The faculty has made this decision and I feel that we should express our opinion in a way that it least express our opinion as to whether or not their idea of education is meaningful to us, those who are most affected.

Perhaps nothing will change but at least let's not pass up an opportunity to voice our opinion. We only give consent by our silence.

Perhaps you already have finished with requirements and don't care. But let's not be so narrow as to think that just present. Think of what it could mean to this University if its students could show enough interest that the administration would feel it was important in a way that was meaningful to us. There's been a bit of talk about apathy around here, but to me it just is an apathy to have to succumb to if we don't want to. But the key word here is "want". If we so desire it we can have to go beyond saying, "I wish it wasn't this way!" to doing something about it. Even if it is to change just a little thing as signing my name.

There will be two papers in the current with a discussion on these requirements. I hope everyone, one agreeing with the faculty on the necessity of 14 hours of a foreign language as a requirement and one disagreeing, won't go away. Would like to see it dropped, or cut down and the student, with the help of the counselor, be a little more beneficial to them.

How long can it take to sign your name? Vote you vote!

by Jean Kettenger

Student Response

Several weeks ago we issued an invitation to anyone on campus who had a gripe to contribute to Mephistopheles' Mailbox, and "show that you care." Expecting the usual overwhelming response that such requests usually elicits, we promptly forgot about the whole thing. But alas! We had underestimated either the discontent of the students, or their concern for campus problems, because the response was relatively staggering.

We feel these students have valid points to present. Even more, we feel that it is important that students, themselves, begin to look for solutions to campus problems in addition to just recognizing that there is a problem. These letters represent an effort to move in this direction. Therefore, we have devoted the editorial page of this issue to Mephistopheles' Manor.

To the Editor:

An important impetus has been reached in the development of the University of Missouri-St. Louis. It is time for an evaluation and reorganization of the school's pol­icy toward extra-curricular activi­ties and groups. Up to this point, no official policy has been present­ed for the recognition of these groups. It has been left up to the SA to decide which groups should be recognized and which should be turned away. In addition to this power of life and death over new groups the SA was given no time limit on decisions. Now, it becomes quite apparent that with the demise of the SA no provisions have been made with regard to the recognition of new groups. Hence, the problem. Should new groups be recognized and who should it be?

It is hoped that the Administra­tion understands the needs of the students and the value of extra­curricular activities. Without these the University will die. Students will have no school life, and such an education, even though it may be "apathy" and lack of school spirit. Actually there is little apathy on this campus. There are many students interested in this school; but neither the administration nor the SA can channel this interest where it wants it to go. As shown by their reaction, not too many students are interested in student government. On the other hand, when the SA dissolved there were many other groups waiting for recognition. These groups are interested in gaining recognition. This is thwarted student interest. Continuing to smother or deny these groups can only hurt the school and the group. Some of these groups, Greeks in particular, need student recognition to receive national recognition and help. Without this recognition many of these groups will fold when school ends June, 1968. This cannot be allowed.

Unlike other editors and let­ters to the editor, this letter pre­sents the opinion of a student. We would like to see what other groups should be composed of one member of each extracurricular group and a representative of the Administration whose sole job it is to examine each group wishing recognition, decide who should be ac­cepted, and create a set of rules or standards for them to follow. This would create a method of recognition without creating a prob­lem in the SA whose job is already very extensive. It would also maintain a recognizing body even if the administration, as it happens, as it now is, dissolved.

The problem of recognition should be looked at in a new light. In years past no national Greek fraternities or sororities were able to colonize on this campus because it had not had a four year graduating class. Now this is all changed; the University has grown up. Many Nationals now wish to be allowed to colonize here but are tied up in administrative red tape. On almost every other major college campus in the United States extra­curricular groups are flourishing. Why not here?

by Mike Spector
Time Limit Rule Dropped

At the third open meeting of the night school, Dean Joy E. Whitener told the 60 students present that because the basic requirement changes, the university had dropped its regulation regarding length of time a course could be valid for a degree. Previously a course eight years old had to be validated through an examination, and one ten years old was totally invalid. With the new ruling, however, any course, regardless of when it was taken, is valid.

This is your invitation to learn about a summer job. Earn $100 per week during summer vacation. Must have car, be free to work full-time. No experience required.

For further information contact:
Mr. Frederici, at—
HE 4-5742 between
9:00 A.M. and 12:00 P.M. or
5:00 P.M. and 7:00 P.M.
Friday, May 10.

SUN. AT 7 PM.

Blaze Damages Auxiliary For New Buildings

The Dean stated that "we had been trying to get this provision dropped because of the fact that many of the students in the Evening School have to extend their education over a rather lengthy period of time."

Assistant Dean Donald Bowling then discussed the new requirements with the audience, which included Dean Harold Eckhoff and George J. Venley, general education night school counselor. He especially emphasized the new business school requirements, which as yet are only provisional.

This was the last meeting of the night school of the winter semester. The next meeting planned by the evening counsel will be an orientation meeting next fall.

Fire extensively damaged some new air-conditioning equipment in a small building on campus late Tuesday afternoon.

Damage to the equipment being installed to serve the new library building and the math language building was estimated at $50,000.

The fire was apparently caused by a welder's torch about 5:15 p.m. The equipment belongs to the Phil Miller Plumbing and Heating Co.

National Company has openings for summer employment. Average earnings $110-$127 per week if qualified, Car necessary.

National Company, Inc.
Phone Mr. Hodax
PA 1-1051

Pizza Eating Contest!

WANT TO EAT AND COMPETE? Your club or group can be represented in the next heat...and possibly win the grand prize. Call Jim Drabelle at Ext. 28 (Current Office) and enter now.

Sunday, May 12 at 7... Pass it on

Pizza Eating Contest!

WATCH THE BATTLE OF THE BIG MOUTHS—SUN. AT 7 PM. You'll see the following BMOC's competing in the first heat of our pizza eating championship:

- Brian McCarthy of Newman Club
- Pam Kotman of Cheerleaders
- Bill Berg of Basketball Team
- Bob Fick of Current Staff
- Sam Hock of University Players

Come on in...root for your favorites...join the fun.

Shakey's PIZZA PARLOR & VE Public House
10427 St. Charles Rock Road
In the St. Ann Shopping Center

Students—Give Samples, Take Orders.
Watkins Products
Average $2.10 Hour—Transportation Furnished
6614 West Florissant (Rear)

After Finals—Then What?

ENTERING THE BUSINESS WORLD—OR MORE SCHOOL AHEAD?
Your checking & savings accounts at Normandy Bank afford convenience and insight into your personal finances.

VACATIONING IN BETWEEN?
Pick up your American Express Traveler's checks—"The Rescue Money"—at Normandy Bank.

Seniors

TICKETS NOW ON SALE
UMSL Graduation
Dinner Dance
June 4, 1968
Khorassan Room
Chase Park Plaza Hotel
Cocktails 6:30
Dinner 7:45
Formal attire
$15.00 per couple
Tickets in Adm. Bldg. Lobby or Cashier's Office
'67-68 Theatre Season In Review

by Sam Hack, Features Editor

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

Although the '67-'68 theatre season was little better than ordinary, it had several outstanding individual achievements. The remainder of this article will be devoted to a review of the best individual achievements in the categories of dramas, comedies, and musicals. Within each category mention will be given to the best plays (with all expected, however, in a major city never produced).

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The 1967-68 theatre season in St. Louis was outstanding, as usual, for its lack of serious drama. Of all the plays that were offered, none had better success than the American Theatre and Loretto-Hilton, where six can honestly be called serious dramas. These five comedies, some of which have seriousness of purpose; and five musicals. The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays. The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl. This consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.

The quality of the plays was consistently good. Only two of them are bad plays (The Crowd and Man-Spangled Girl). The consistency of quality is to be expected, however, in a major city where an untested play is almost never produced.
Two Golf Matches Remaining
by Jim Mantia

UMSL’s golf team now has a 3-6 record after three matches last week against Florida, St. Louis U., and St. Louis U.

The Rivermen rounded out their season with a strong 11-3/1 4-1/2 victory over Southwest Missouri State on April 15. Tom Cradick of UMSL led all golfers with a brilliant 67. The other scores by UMSL were 73 by Bill Bridgforth, 71 by Ron Brewer, 86 by Deney Chester, 76 by Steve Loughmier, and 79 by Bob Griffin.

For the following day, April 16, and again at home the Rivermen lost a close match to SIU-Edwardsville. The score was 11-7. Ron Brewer’s par 66 was the best round.

On May 2, UMSL met St. Louis U. at Norwood Hills and lost 49-484, in a match that was decided on a total team score basis. Again it was Brewer who led the way for the Rivermen with a score of 73.

The Rivermen have been playing some very strong opponents of late and have been doing rather well. Since these teams are basically of NCAA caliber, the prospects look good for the Rivermen when they enter the NAIA tournament at the end of the regular season.

The next match is May 14 against McKendree at UMSL’s home course. If UMSL wins, they will close out the regular season schedule with a contest at Tamarrack C. C. against SIU-Edwardsville.

Grub Party at Newman House
Saturday, June 8
Starting at 6 p.m.

Two outstanding high school basketball players from the St. Louis area have been accepted by UMSL and have indicated that they will come out for basketball next season.

Heading the list is Norman High School’s 6’2” forward Glen “Doody” Rehn who was named to the all-state team last year. Another candidate for a forward spot is 6’6” James Draper of Maplewood. Guard candidates include two members of the CAC conference team — 5’9” Mark Berson of Mc-Bride and 5’11” Ben Phillips from Mercy plus John Poneck at 6’9” of Dillard and 5’10” Rob Westman of University City.

The 1968-69 basketball season will include 18 regular games -- nine home and nine road, plus two tournament games over Christmas Vacation. The schedule is as follows:

Sat., Dec. 14: Nebraska State, Home
Wed., Dec. 18: Concordia, Home
Sat., Dec. 21: William Jewell, Away
Fri., Sat., Dec. 29: Nebraska State Tournament, Kearney, Neb.

Mon., Jan. 6: St. U. - Edwardsville, Away
Sat., Jan. 11: McKendree, Away
Sat., Jan. 18: Concordia, Away
Mon., Jan. 27: U. of Ill. - Chicago, Away
Wed., Jan. 28: St. Louis U., Away
Jan. 29: Little Rock U., Home
Thurs., Feb. 6: U. of Wis. - Milwaukee, Away
Fri., Feb. 14: Pekich College, Home
Mon., Feb. 17: Missouri Southern, Home
Sat., Feb. 23: U. of Wis. - Milwaukee, Home
Tues., Feb. 25: Southwestern of Memphis, Away

Good Prospects For Basketball

Bob Broeg to Speak at Awards Program May 14

St. Louis Post-Dispatch Sports Editor Bob Broeg will be the featured speaker at UMSL’s athletic awards program to be held Thursday, May 16 at 4:00 in Room 105 of Benton Hall. The program is open to all students.

Certificates of award will be presented to all varsity athletes and members of intramural championship teams. Bob Broeg will present awards to the outstanding members of UMSL’s varsity teams: basketball — Jack Stenner; steamer’s Club President Jim Issler will present the steamer’s awards to the most spirited male and female students and faculty member.

A total of 41 varsity and 92 intramural athletes will be honored at the program.

Bob Broeg will receive a free membership which entitles him to a tape of his program.

Christian Science Informal Organization Meetings: Every Monday at 2:30 Methodist Building Everyone Welcome

Are you tired of listening to trash? Then let Mike put a Craig under your dash!

For more information about Craig Car Stereo, contact Mike at Mike’s Tape City

Mike’s Tape City
8119 Page Blvd.
HA 6-7077
Open 11-6 Monday thru Saturday
Mike is now a member of the National Tape Club. Thus, all customers purchasing new or used stereos will receive a free membership which entitles them to a 10% discount on each of the next 50 tapes purchased.

Bring this ad with you for a 10% discount on any purchase
Good until May 30, 1968
Cool Jerks, Teeny Boppers
Win Volleyball Titles

Monday May 6 the UMSL basketball team proved that they can play volleyball as well as they play basketball, if not better. On that day, the Cool Jerks, as the players call their men's team, defeated the Nihil Obstata to win the championship in the men's IM volleyball league, with one day of competition left. Following that game, the Teeny Boppers (Basketballers plus Angel Flight) won a round-robin play-off to win the co-ed championship. In the six games played by the three division winners the Blue League Teeny Boppers were 5-1, the Red League Watchmakers 4-2 and the Gold League S.U.B. Duds 0-6.

Members of the men's league champion Cool Jerks are Ron Clark, Loy Allen, Dennis McCarthy and Dave Warmbrook.

Members of the three winning Co-ed teams are Gold League S.U.B. Duds - Mike Mudrovic, Lou Mudrovic, Linda Aidsdorf, Mary Gatermann, Skip Goff, Dave Willson, Bill Berg, Ron Armbruster, Terry Reiter and Vic Cadice. The second place Nihil Obstata, who lost only one game, were represented by Tom Henke, Mike Shea, Ron Toczylowski, Mark Petzel, Bob Ludwinski, Mike Taylor, Mike Kasell, Dennis McCarthy and Dave Warmbrook.

Following are the men's volleyball standings after the games on May 6, and the final co-ed standings. The final men's league standings will be published next week.

MEN'S LEAGUE

Cool Jerks 7-0
Nihil Obstata 6-1
Teenly Boppers 5-3
Twilite's Carta's 4-3
Sigma Tau Gamma 3-3
Lyons 4-3
Beer Bombers 1-6
Pi Kappa Alpha 1-6
Ziattes 1-7
Ocean's Razor 0-6

S.U.B. Duds 8-0
Pioneers 5-3
Ziattes 4-6
Inter-arsity Pikes and Fuzzies 1-7

By the turn of the century, chances are you won't recognize the familiar telephone. Based on services already in use or on the drawing boards, you can expect some pretty far-out developments.

For example, Picturephone was only a part of television when you talk service, already in limited use, might be offered in full color and three dimensions. With it, you could "attend" classes and never leave the dorm.

Electronic switching equipment, already in trial use, will call you when a busy line you have called is free, or transfer calls to another phone while you're away. Money handling will be revolutionized. You won't need to write checks or pay cash for most purchases. A telephone call to your bank's computer will take care of the payment. The same telephone system could even figure tough calculus problems.

Your doctor will be able to draw on the entire sum of medical knowledge for help in diagnosing your ailment. Sensors attached to your body could send your symptoms to a distant computer for analysis and a summary of everything the doctor needs to know about your particular problem. It's possible right now to send electrocardiograms via telephone.

Whatever marvels come along, it's a safe bet that some things won't have changed by the year 2000.

The exciting field of communications will still be full of challenge. And we'll still be working hard to meet that challenge.

Different.

You say you wonder what your phone will be like in the year 2000?

Soccer Meeting

A meeting of men interested in participating in intercollegiate soccer in 1968-69 will be held in the cafeteria conference room on Friday May 10 at 4:00 p.m.

Volleyball Tournament

A team of UMSL students participated in Concordia Seminary's volleyball tournament on Saturday May 4. The team faced two squads from Concordia and lost close matches to each. UMSL team members were Dave Willson, Ron Clark, Jim Goff, Vic Cadice, Terry Reiter, Loy Allen, Dennis McCarthy and Mike Shea.