Divisions To Elect Council Members

Elections for the seventeen representatives from the colleges and schools to the Central Council will be held Monday and Tuesday, October 23-24. Each division will elect representatives in proportion to its membership, including nine from the College of Arts and Sciences, five from the Evening College, two from the School of Education, and one from the School of Business. The candidates for these offices were selected by the planning group for the student representative system on Monday, October 14.

No meetings have been scheduled in which the candidates will be publicly introduced, a spokesman said. A为一体 election will be held Monday, October 23, and Tuesday, October 24, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Voting will take place in the Friday before the elections, in the Mathematical Sciences Building at 11 a.m.

The candidates are in the process of electing these representatives. A list of candidates is in the proposed student government, sponsored by the Debate Club, has been scheduled for the Friday before the election. Alinsky Calls Violence Unjustified in America

by Aubrey Herman

"Violence will not change the world--it is suicide!" were the words of Saul Alinsky, speaking at the first of the Lecture Series Wednesday, October 9. A crowd of 250 heard Alinsky explain that violence is unacceptable unless it is justified. He added, "In America violence is not justified at this point in our history."

Alinsky, lecturer on "The Political Personality of the Organizer in a Free Society," discussed the characteristics and prerequisites of a good organizer must have to be effective in a free society. Among these was a strong sense of humor, imagination, and a deep sense of personal security. One of the prerequisites for the organizer is to accept the world as it is.

In discussing organization in America, Alinsky referred to the student unrest on the college campuses today. He stated, "The students are not the first to turn against the archaic modes of society. They don't want to accept the world as it is and therefore cannot organize effectively. Violence on the campus seems to be their only alternative."

In his presentation, Alinsky spoke on the Biology of the Free Society. He stated, "All politics spring from the prime truth." To exemplify what a prime truth was, he used Marxism as an example. "In Marxism, the prime truth is that the evil of the world is caused by capitalists." He continued, "In a free society there isn't a prime truth because of the continuous change in ideology. The organizer is not sure of where or where the political paradox is to be reached. The organizer must also have a strong belief in the free society and in the power of the people."

During the discussion period Alinsky gave his views on "black power." He said that, "Black culture (the internal feeling of security and equality) is being used as a defense against organizing in the black society. With "culture power," the purpose of black power is maintained. Black power and black culture must go hand in hand to be successful."

Alinsky, the founder and director of the Industrial Areas Foundation in Chicago, is experienced in the field of communal organization in the slums and trains organizers at the Foundation.

Politics Club To Sponsor Mock Election Next Week

The Political Science Club, in cooperation with the Political Science Department will sponsor a mock election, October 23, 24 and 25.

Day and evening division students, and faculty members will collect ballots. UMSL voters will elect the president and four state officers including Missouri Governor, Attorney General, Senator, and Representative in the second district (UMSL's district) on the first page of the ballot. The second page will be a short questionnaire used to determine voter behavior. Voting trends from the 1956, 1958, and 1964 elections will be used as a base in comparing voter behavior this year. Because UMSL is a commuter college, the percentage of students voting is only fifty percent of its students voting and many of them hold down jobs full time. The first and second page ballot may be relevant in determining these national trends.

According to Miss Antalick, chairman of the mock election, "Students go to school, but their ideas are still somewhat routine. They are working, out on their own, more, and more, and more involved." Since UMSL students are more in touch with life, Miss Antalick explained, "We could show people that students on our campus do have a voice."

Miss Antalick stated, "If definitely encourage every faculty member and student to vote in order to make UMSL count." Results of the election will be published nationally.

You may vote on the front floor of Benson Hall. Voting begins October 23 and will last until 5 p.m. Voting will continue until 5:30 p.m. October 24. Registration will be by student number. Ballots will be marked to stay at least ten feet from the polls.

In the second section of the second page ballot will ask the voter's sex, religious affiliation, political affiliation, and his position in the election. He will also be asked how they would have or did vote in the 1956, 1958, and 1964 elections.

The club also plans a series of informal seminars on violence, in which members of the sociology, psychology, and political science departments will participate. Informal discussions will be a forum for the determination between students and faculty, the club has tentatively scheduled the seminars at the homes of several professors.

The club will meet Monday, October 21, in Benson Hall, room 107, at 7:30 p.m. to elect officers and decide its policy on the California grape pickers' strike, the upcoming election, and the voting age to 18, and the presidential primary in Missouri.

Lawrence Roos To Campaign Here Monday

Lawrence K. Roos, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will address students Monday, October 21, at 10:30 a.m., in the Math and Modern Languages Building, room 100.

A major issue in his campaign with the incumbent governor, Warren Hearnes, has been his charge that Missouri lags in providing opportunities for education and ranks 9th nationwide.

He has advocated establishment of a Student Police Board to coordinate local police efforts against crime and violence, and has favored economic expansion through jobs in private industry.

His address has been sponsored by the Young Republicans.
Letters: Readers, Current 0

Editor: I was rather surprised to read the sharp criticism of "The World of Sholom Aleichem," presented by your Feature Editor in the October 10 issue of the Current. It seems he was not so much upset with the performance—which he seemed to feel was adequate, if unsurpassed—rather with the dramatic content of the play itself. Specifically he considers the first two of the three playlets to be unworthy of presentation on the stage.

CSI Elects First Officers

The Congress for Student Involvement, a group seeking recognition as a campus organization, elected executive officers on Friday, October 11.

Among the officers are David Mackenzie, president, and Frank Rother, vice-president. The group also elected Lee Elliott to be representative to the Central Council, if they receive recognition from the Office of Student Affairs.

Members of the group said that they are presenting a statement of purpose and a constitution to meet the requirements.

Freshmen Attend Counseling Class

One of the newest classes in the counseling service at UMSL is Freshman Advisement. As the name implies, it is a guidance and counseling class designed to help alleviate any problems or difficulties that the beginning college student might encounter.

The course is currently being offered on a trial basis and consists of weekly meetings for the first five weeks of the semester. Five hundred freshmen are currently participating, divided into twenty groups of twenty-five students each. Five faculty members are at the disposal of the freshmen students. They are Mr. David Allen, Miss Jane Parks and Mrs. Ann Fischer of the English department, Mr. Paul Hoffman of the foreign language department, and Mr. Richard Dunlap, assist-

Freshmen elect to the Chancellor. The class- room sessions are handled by twenty select upperclassmen.

In order to get an idea of what these classes entail, a Current reporter sat in on two advising sessions. The first, presided over by senior Carolyn Berger, met at 12:40 Mondays in room 304 Benton Hall. Miss Berger spoke of the importance of keeping up with one's studies and developing good study habits. In addition, she gave a thorough explanation of plagiarism and its penalties. An effort to elicit questions from the eight freshmen in attendance was generally unsuccessful, resulting in a shortened class.

The other class in the charge of Larry Mitchener, a senior majoring in English, meets in the same room at 12:40 Wednesdays. Eleven students attended the class, which delved into the intricacies of the probation-suspension dismissal policy at UMSL, a rather ominous subject for freshmen, but informative nonetheless. Mitchener pointed out that most students in trouble academically are in that situation because they fell behind in their course. In addition, he gave tips on studying, the various types of examinations, and the responsibility of the student for his own performance.

On the basis of a questionnaire answered by this class, the students were unanimous in their approval of the experiment, at least, of the 25 students assigned to the section, the 12 in attendance were unanimous in approving it.

Volunteer Army

Phillip Scott, Republican congressional candidate for the Second District, spoke before a capacity crowd last Friday, October 11, in the Math and Language Building.

In his 100-second campaign Democra­ tic opponent, James Symington, appeared on campus September 25, delivered a 20 minute address in which he presented his views on the draft and the Vietnam war, then engaged in a 25 minute question and answer session.

Wasting little time on preliminaries, Scott discussed his views on the draft, listing his goals as short-term and long-term:

As a short-term goal, he favored reducing the period that a draft-age man was in the man power pool from eight to four years, with the youngest (nineteen-year-olds) accepted over older men. He also favored establishment of "national criteria" for draft boards to alleviate the "gross inequities allowed at present by local draft boards."

As a long-range goal, Scott proposed that the draft be eliminated, and replaced by an all-volunteer professional army, with wage and other incentives to increase the attractiveness and respectability of a military career.

He also criticized the Johnson-Humphrey Administration for blundering into the Vietnam war due to their efforts to make the United States "the policemen of the world."

Drawing on nine years of military experience—with the U.S. Army in North Africa, and with the Marines in the Pacific—and in Korea.—Scott blamed the Democratic administration's failure to resolve the conflict on their unimaginative reliance on military force alone. He urged that the full economic and diplomatic power of the United States be brought against the enemy to end the war, and advocated a realistic reappraisal of U.S. foreign policy.

Scott proposed that such free nations as Japan and Israel be given the responsibility to defend their own sovereignty, though assured of U.S. support, and that the NATO and SEATO alliances be revived as real partnerships, with the United States doing its fair share but not trying to pull the entire load unaided.

Lectures Planned

The Russian Club will present its first lecture, a talk by its sponsor, Vladimir N. Butkowski, Tuesday, October 21. Mr. Butkoff will discuss "Socialism Realism in Soviet Literature, " centering on the contemporary Russian writer, Michael Sholokhov, author of "The Grass is Greener.

Other speakers scheduled to appear are Mr. Joseph Fosnowich, who will speak on Russian religion and the communist party, and Alexander Buchholz, son of Washington University, who will lecture on and show slides of the Russian ballet.

Mrs. Janna Czajkowski, teacher of Russian at Affton High School, who will show slides of her trip to Russia last summer.

Getting a job is no sweat. It's finding a good one that bothers me.

You've come to the right place.

IH will give you a good job. One that lets you stand on your own two feet. Right from the start.

You see, we believe your point of view is just as important as ours.

We want new ways to do things. Better ways.

And this calls for fresh ideas.

And the faster you prove yourself, the quicker you'll move up. Without a lot of red tape.

Get the picture? Now why not get into the act.

The first step to success.

We need engineers for design, test, manufacturing and research. We need accountants and production management people. And we need sales people for our retail and wholesale operations.

So be sure and talk to your campus placement officer about us. He'll give you the word.

After all, if we give you a good job you want to stick with us.

And that's exactly what we have in mind.
Eugene O'Neill was probably the greatest playwright this country has produced. He was a great artist, but he was not a polished artist. His flaws are large and obvious. It takes no great amount of critical insight to discover his excessive verbosity, his crude use of language, or his clumsy plotting. Paradoxically, these flaws were part of his greatness. They enabled him to expose and dissect the guts of human passion in the course of his search for "a fulfillment beyond men's lousy, greedy fears and hopes and dreams."

Autobiographical Play

The above comment is spoken by Edmund, O'Neill's recreation of himself in his autobiographical masterpiece Long Day's Journey Into Night, which is given a superb production by the Loretto-Hilton Repertory Theatre. In spite of the tremendous subjective nature of the play, O'Neill was able to objectively draw a brutally realistic portrait of his own family at a time of crisis.

The action of the play is set on the day that Mary Tyrone (O'Neill's mother) loses a battle against drug addiction. O'Neill uses the reactions of the four members of the Tyrone (O'Neill) family to probe their hearts. Each of them had hoped, for their own reasons, that she would "beat the game."

Aging Actor

James Tyrone (O'Neill's father) is an aging actor whose background in poverty made him a miser. His miserliness was a cause of his wife's addiction. When she gave birth to Edmund, the cheap doctor he hired "took the easy way out" and gave her morphine to ease her great pain. Edmund's guilt that his birth led to his mother's sad fate is compounded by her use of worry over his illness as an excuse for her relapse.

Jamie (O'Neill's older brother) had hoped that his mother's rehabilitation could be an inspiration for him to overcome alcoholism. Jamie had grown to blame his father and brother (both of whom he also loves) for causing Mary's addiction. In fact he sees no good in the world at all. Mary uses her drugs to escape the unhappy reality of the present and live in the happy illusions of her innocent past (she wanted to,"Ask the kid who owns one.

Some people have a hard time communicating with youth. Not us.

We just bring on the上世纪69 Camaro, then tell it like it is.

It is: Full of new features including bigger outlets for the Astro Ventilation, a 210-hp standard V8, and a lock for the steering column, ignition and transmission lever.

It is: Available with a little device that automatically washes your headlights when you hold the windshield washer button in.

It is: Still wider and weightier than the rival sportster we're too polite to name.

You should drive a 1969 Camaro at your Chevrolet dealer's the first chance you get. Even if you're 42.
Program Wednesday to Recognize U.N. Day

by Ken Knarr

Lectures, pamphlets, and an audience-panel parlory will offer the students at U.M.I.T. an insight into the working of the United Nations Wednesday, October 25.

The date is designated as United Nations Day and marks the 23rd anniversary of the world organization.

The program will begin at 11:40 a.m. in room 300ML with the distribution of packets which will include information on all aspects of the United Nations. This will be followed by the Lawrence Harvey-narrated movie, "Power Among Men." The movie will provide a general review of the U.N. in terms of its organisms, problems, and potentialities.

At the conclusion of the movie, an audience-panel parlory will be held. The panel, composed of Dr. Fedders, Director of International Affairs Center, Dr. Sullivan, Chairman of the Political Science Department, and possibly a third member, will present their statements of position on the United Nations in a short statement and then allow the audience to participate directly. Microphones will be available and the parlory will allow everyone to participate.

The United Nations program is sponsored by Student Activities in conjunction with the Council of International Relations and United Nations Affairs (CIRUNA). Officers of the United Nations Association of the United States of America will be on hand as guests of CIRUNA. CIRUNA is currently awaiting permanent recognition on campus.

Greek News

by Lainey Jaffe

This is the first article of a new weekly column concerning campus social life. I searched for information in a positive and enthusiastic manner. When there are seven fraternities and three sororities on campus, something is bound to be happening!

My first call was to the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity house. A pledge answered. Instead of "hel-lo," he responded, "Due to the grace of God and genius of Alexander Graham Bell, I'm speaking to you from the hollow halls of the University of Missouri–St. Louis. Colossus of Big-Man Tau Gamma, International Fraternity, Pledge Williams speaking, for whom does the bell toll?"

Needless to say, by the time he finished his recitation, I was speechless. After the unique greeting, pledge Williams explained, "Pledges are required to answer the telephone that way as a part of their initiation duties."

Later, while talking with Walt Freeman, social chairman, I learned that pledges last Friday night had to move faster than they talk while on an adventurous scavenger hunt.

Sigma Pi men were busily involved in a "bake-in" at homes of chapter members last Friday night. After the goodies were made, they were put on sale Saturday afternoon. A hayride was held that night in celebration of the fundraiser. Don Tekerar planned the event. Sunday the festivities ended with the final pledge initiation in Benton Hall.

Angel Flight's rush program began with an open meeting for all interested girls October 12. A tea for rushees came first, the prospective "angels" were interviewed by a selection board. On October 14, members were hostesses at Scott Air Force Base's "Monte Carlo" night.

Alpha Phi Omega social chairman, Mike O'Day, is busy arranging a hayride for October 26. The program is in honor of their 10 rushes.

The Delta Zeta girls sponsored a bridge party open to all University students Sunday afternoon in the cafeteria. Tammy Layton was chairman. A ribbon-pledge ceremony was held October 15, and the final pledge ceremony is scheduled for October 20.

After the Tau Kappa Delta men became $32.50 richer from their fundraiser, Don Tekner was chairman, and Bill Ward, secretary. Looks like Greek social life is centered around the pledges with the idea of making initiation as exciting as possible for them.

Happy Birthday Rich, Oct. 23

Since cave drawings of the Ice Age man, people have struggled to communicate. With stories, maps, legends, paper, spoken words of love and fear. This business of communications... meaningful dialogue...is still chief among today's preoccupations. And it's one we at Western Electric, indeed the entire Bell System have worked at since 1872.

Cable, Microwaves and Satellites have brought nations face-to-face across continents and oceans. Closed-circuit TV helps educators penetrate barriers of slum and paper shack. In fact, our whole way of life in America is being enriched simply by advances in phonning. Whether basic or brilliant, each advance must arrive when it's needed. And each must be economically producible whenever it's needed. At Western Electric we specialize in production and logistics. It's our job in the Bell System...to help men overcome communication barriers with dependable service at low cost. To this end we need an ever increasing number of new fresh ideas. Your ideas. Ideas that look past tomorrow.

The date is designated as United Nations Day and marks the 23rd anniversary of the world organization.

The program will begin at 11:40 a.m. in room 300ML with the distribution of packets which will include information on all aspects of the United Nations. This will be followed by the Lawrence Harvey-narrated movie "Power Among Men." The movie will provide a general review of the U.N. in terms of its organisms, problems, and potentialities.

At the conclusion of the movie, an audience-panel parlory will be held. The panel, composed of Dr. Fedders, Director of International Affairs Center, Dr. Sullivan, Chairman of the Political Science Department, and possibly a third member, will present their statements of position on the United Nations in a short statement and then allow the audience to participate directly. Microphones will be available and the parlory will allow everyone to participate.

The United Nations program is sponsored by Student Activities in conjunction with the Council of International Relations and United Nations Affairs (CIRUNA). Officers of the United Nations Association of the United States of America will be on hand as guests of CIRUNA. CIRUNA is currently awaiting permanent recognition on campus.

This is the first article of a new weekly column concerning campus social life. I searched for information in a positive and enthusiastic manner. When there are seven fraternities and three sororities on campus, something is bound to be happening!

My first call was to the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity house. A pledge answered. Instead of "hel-lo," he responded, "Due to the grace of God and genius of Alexander Graham Bell, I'm speaking to you from the hollow halls of the University of Missouri–St. Louis, Colossus of Big-Man Tau Gamma, International Fraternity, Pledge Williams speaking, for whom does the bell toll?"

Needless to say, by the time he finished his recitation, I was speechless. After the unique greeting, pledge Williams explained, "Pledges are required to answer the telephone that way as a part of their initiation duties."

Later, while talking with Walt Freeman, social chairman, I learned that pledges last Friday night had to move faster than they talk while on an adventurous scavenger hunt.

Sigma Pi men were busily involved in a "bake-in" at homes of chapter members last Friday night. After the goodies were made, they were put on sale Saturday afternoon. A hayride was held that night in celebration of the fundraiser. Don Tekerar planned the event. Sunday the festivities ended with the final pledge initiation in Benton Hall.

Angel Flight's rush program began with an open meeting for all interested girls October 12. A tea for rushees came first, the prospective "angels" were interviewed by a selection board. On October 14, members were hostesses at Scott Air Force Base's "Monte Carlo" night.

Alpha Phi Omega social chairman, Mike O'Day, is busy arranging a hayride for October 26. The program is in honor of their 10 rushes.

The Delta Zeta girls sponsored a bridge party open to all University students Sunday afternoon in the cafeteria. Tammy Layton was chairman. A ribbon-pledge ceremony was held October 15, and the final pledge ceremony is scheduled for October 20.

After the Tau Kappa Delta men became $32.50 richer from their fundraiser, Don Tekner was chairman, and Bill Ward, secretary. Looks like Greek social life is centered around the pledges with the idea of making initiation as exciting as possible for them.
Harriers Sport 3-3 Record; Face Westminster Monday

by Pat Freeman

Challenged to add further victories to their season mark, the UMSL harriers were kept occupied last week by running in three meets in five days. October 8 marked the final home meet of the season which was a runaway victory over St. Edwardsville and Blackburn 18-45-72 in a triangular meet. The following day UMSL traveled to Forest Park where they were run out by Washington University 21-37, October 12 they were to the road, traveling to Green ville, Illinois, to compete in the Green ville Invitational, where they placed 5th in a field of 11 teams.

After completing half of their schedule, the Rivermen possess a 3-3 record.

SIU - Blackburn

Hosting a triangular meet on October 6, the Rivermen pitted themselves to an easy win over SIU-Edwardsville (45) and Blackburn College (72). The Rivermen had four men finishing in the top five as they took low scoring honors with 16. Bill Eberly led off with a 22:33 time, just one second short of tying the UMSL course record of 22:32 held by Jerry Ar vin of Greenville. Ted McQueary raced to a second place spot, (22:51) as Kenny Robinson took the fourth place slot with a 23:41 time. Bob Hudson finished first for his outstanding running and for his time better than one half minute for his four-mile run in 21 minutes 52 seconds. Cutting his time to 22:19 was Jeff Davis, Randy Davis and Blackburn's best was 24:34 respectively.

The squad ended with 154 points for each of us?

As that great baseball philosopher, Dennis Dale McLain once said, "I don't want to beat the Cardinals, I want to humiliate them."

Rather than recap what you already know about the World Series, this column will present my impressions of some of the personalities and behind-the-scene activities of the Series.

In my opinion, the Cardinals were humiliated in the Series. They had three games and were leading 3-0 in their fourth "victory" when they fell apart and only scored 2 runs in the last 26 innings of the Series, while the Tigers scored 22 runs including 10 in one inning.

Do you think the Cardinals were mad after the last game? They sure as Hell were. Some of them were sipping champagne and kidding around in the clubhouse.

Ted McQueary, who is the usual number one runner, would have felt well, we could have possibly moved up to fourth or fifth place, but I'm very proud of the team for placing sixth.

The squad ended with 154 points to first place Principia's 64.

UML'S starting basketball center this year will be 6'7" Greg Daust, who attended Brentwood High School and then played for one year for Coach Smith at Central Missouri State College. He will have three years of eligibility led the Fort Polk team to the fourth Army championship in February. The best center prospect I've had in ten years, he said about him, "Daust is the best center prospect I've had in ten years of college coaching."

Football Play-off Tomorrow

Red league winners Sigma Pi will face the gold league Zetas in the championship game tomorrow, weather permitting. The game will be held on the Normandy Junior High fields at 1:00. The Canon and Lyons will play for second place honors at 4:00.

The UMSL soccer team won its second game in a row by defeating Western Illinois University at Macomb, Illinois, last Saturday by the score of 7-0.

The game was an overwhelming offensive show, Luis Campos led the way by scoring 3 goals, Marty Todt scored 2, and Mark McDonald and Tom Tucker each scored 1.

The assists were: Campos 1 on McDonald's goal, Tim Fitzsimmons assisted Campos twice and also assisted Tucker's goal, Chuck Bellers assisted one of Todt's goals and Dave Meyer assisted Campos' third goal. The UMSL offense is characterized by good ball handling and the ability to score, with Luis Campos being the deadliest, having scored three times out of four shots Saturday.

Coach Don Dallas emphasized the importance of the Rivermen's defense which is formed by Frank McHugh, Frank Buehler, Greg Ayward, Tim Kruse, Greg Kramer, and Matt Hynes. Their purpose is to keep the ball up front, set up the forwards, and in general call the plays by shouting directions and making the passes. They must have enough speed to control mid-field and prevent fast breaks.

They did this extremely well Saturday, allowing UMSL to make 32 shots on goal as compared to 2 for Western Illinois. UMSL has two fine goalies, Paul Ostrowski and Henry Drury, whose jobs are much tougher than statistics show. Since the defense plays up, the goalie must come out of the goal for many of the balls that are pushed past the defense.

The team spirit is such that a general consensus of the players is that the team is playing far short of its capacity because the team hasn't been together too long. The Rivermen's next game at Harris Teacher's College will be the first good opportunity to see the team in action. The game will be held Saturday, October 19th, at Harris Field on Comp and Laclede--one block from S.L.U.'s Musial Field--parking in Harris' schoolyard.

"I can't think of any other job where a guy my age could find himself working with the board of directors of a ten million dollar company," says Peter Anderson.

Peter joined IBM after he earned his B.A. in Economics in 1964. As a Marketing Representative, he's involved in the planning, selling and installation of IBM data processing systems. "I look at myself more as a consultant or educator than as a salesman," says Peter.

Work with company presidents
"It's not unusual for me to answer the phone and find myself talking to a company president." (The annual sales of Peter's customers range from one half million to 10 million dollars.) "These men are looking for solutions to problems— not a sales pitch," says Peter. "For instance, one manufacturer's inventory was so uncontrolled he never knew when he could promise delivery. We worked out a system that tells him what stock items he needs, when he needs them and the date he can deliver."

Broad experience
"I cover a lot of different businesses—manufacturers, distributors, chemical processors, real estate brokers, linen suppliers—you name it."

"And the freedom really pays off. You're given a quota and a territory. How you manage it is pretty much up to you." Already Peter has netted 24 new accounts and seen 18 new systems installed. He has just been promoted to a new staff position.

You'll find many IBM Marketing and Sales Representatives who could tell you of similar experiences. And they have many kinds of college backgrounds: business, engineering, liberal arts, science. They not only sell data processing equipment as Peter does, but also IBM office products and information records systems. Many of the more technically inclined are data processing Systems Engineers.

Check with your placement office
If you're interested in marketing at IBM, ask your placement office for more information.

Or send a resume or letter to Irv Pfeiffer, IBM Corp., Dept. C, 100 So. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606. We'd like to hear from you even if you're headed for graduate school or military service.
