CAMPUS SURVIVAL GUIDE 1987 — 88

The University of Missouri

a 25 year partnership with saint louis

Twenty five years ago, the St. Louis region did not have a comprehensive public university. Today, however, the University of Missouri-St. Louis provides educational opportunities for thousands of St. Louisans.

From its humble beginnings 25 years ago, the University of Missouri-St. Louis has grown to become an integral part of the economic revitalization of the St. Louis region.

As the campus embarks on a second generation of growth, it continues to offer accessible educational opportunities comprised of high academic standards, a quality faculty and a wide variety of social activities.

The University of Missouri-St. Louis was founded in 1963. Now the third largest university in the state, UM-St. Louis has a student body of nearly 12,000 students.

The University of Missouri system dates back to 1839. Although the youngest campus, UM-St. Louis has a proven track record. Over 80 percent of the University's nearly 30,000 alumni live and work in the metropolitan St. Louis area and make contributions in industry, government and education.

UM-St. Louis offers seven academic divisions, 38 disciplines of study, masters degree programs in 20 fields, six preprofessional programs and five doctoral programs.

The academic quality of the UM-St. Louis campus is a matter of record. The UM-Board of Curators have designated the Departments of Chemistry and Political Science as Centers of Eminence-departments designated for national prominence within the decade.

In addition, UM-St. Louis professors are recognized internationally in their fields of study. Nearly 80 percent hold doctoral degrees from some of the most prestigious universities.

As the nation enters into a transformed 21st century economy, UM-St. Louis plans to be a partner with the St. Louis community to help meet future challenges.

Welcome To UM-St. Louis

Chancellor
Marguerite R. Barnett

The Chancellor is responsible for all operations of the UM-St. Louis campus and reports to UM President C. Peter Magrath.

Barnett became the chancellor of UM-St. Louis on June 1, 1986, after former Chancellor Arnold Grobman retired. She is the fifth Chancellor in the 24-year history of the campus. She was formerly vice chancellor for academic affairs at the City University of New York, a 21-college system serving 180,000 students.

She has taught at the following universities: Chicago, Princeton, Howard, and Columbia. She is the author or editor of five books and more than 40 journal articles.

Barnett holds a bachelor's degree from Antioch College and an M.A. and Ph.D. in political science from the University of Chicago.

Last year at the Chancellor's Report to the Community, I made three pledges to the St. Louis community. First, I pledged this University to the continued pursuit of excellence. Second, I pledged that UM-St. Louis would be a good neighbor. And third, I pledged that we would seek to be an example of the best in urban higher education.

This report details our year's activities. Our plethora of faculty, student, and campus-wide initiatives demonstrate our intellectual vigor and the intensity of our commitment to nurture excellence. Our major project, "Partnerships for Progress," is an institutionalization of our effort to be a good neighbor; to work in partnership with other organizations in the community for the benefit of the region and the state.

Through imaginative, cost-effective programs such as our joint programs in law and in dentistry with the University of Missouri-Kansas City and our effort to identify and further our community's economic vitality, we are creating unique urban educational programs that I hope will be replicated elsewhere.

Activities chronicled in the University of Missouri-St. Louis 1986-87 report will make clear why we believe this is "A Time of Promise" for all of us. Epictetus, the ancient Greek philosopher, observed:

"No great thing is created suddenly, any more than a bunch of grapes or a fig. If you tell me you desire a fig, I answer you that there must be time. Let it first blossom, then bear fruit, then ripen."

Epictetus captures the essence of the first period in the development of the University of Missouri-St. Louis. This University is at a crucial point in its history; it is at the end of its first generation of development. During this first generation, a superb faculty was recruited, a 177-acre campus was built, and a challenging academic foundation was laid. Faculty and staff who have been on our campus for a number of years have had the experience of being part of the dynamic growth of a young campus. Now, one year before our 25th anniversary, we eagerly anticipate the challenge of the time of promise that awaits us. For it is during this next era in the University's history that we hope to work with the St. Louis community to lay the groundwork for the University of Missouri-St. Louis realizing its potential for world-class public university stature.

The vice chancellor is also responsible for KWMU-FM radio, research centers, the library, computer center, affirmative action and faculty personnel matters.

Touhill was named vice chancellor for academic affairs in June, 1987. She had held the post on an interim basis since January, 1986. She first joined the UM-St. Louis history faculty in 1965, and was named associate dean of faculties in 1974. Touhill holds a B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. in history from St. Louis University.

Kevin Edwards

Student Representative Board of Curators

Kevin Edwards became the second student curator under a new position approved by the Missouri Legislature in 1984.

A junior at the University Missouri-Rolla, Edwards is finishing his second year of the two year appointment. Edwards role is to represent all the students at the University of Missouri. To accomplish his task, Kevin stays in close contact with the student government leaders of the four campuses through regular meetings.

As a result of his efforts, University President Magrath established an Intercampus Student Council comprised of student government presidents and Edwards. The council meets with Magrath during the Board of Curators meetings to discuss issues facing the four U.M. campuses.

Edwards goal is to have the campus administrators and the curators perceive the students as viable actors when planning and arranging campus growth. Edwards hopes to see student governments play a major role in the future of the University system.

Students Patrol Campus

The Student Patrol program at the University of Missouri, St. Louis originated in the Fall of 1982. At that time it was hoped that it would prove to be a worthwhile project, benefiting both the UM-St. Louis Police Department and the participating students.

Beginning its sixth year this Fall, members of the Student Patrol now act under the direction of Coordinator Ben Hensley.

Student Patrol members assist the UM-St. Louis Police in a number of areas including foot patrol of the campus, parking and traffic enforcement and crowd control at special events. The Student Patrol has, as anticipated, proven to be quite an asset to the University Police. It has enhanced communications with students and is an extension of the "eyes and ears" of the organization which in turn provides the means for a more comprehensive and efficient campus patrol.

Previously, the only means by which one might identify a Student Patrol member was by the armband worn while on duty. This Fall, each of the seven Student Patrol members may be identified by an official cap and jacket worn while on duty. Coordinator Ben Hensley believes that this new uniform attire will help to increase the enthusiasm and sense of unity between Student Patrol members. The new uniforms will also enable students and visitors on campus to more readily observe the police personnel while on patrol.

The stated purpose of the Student Patrol Program is to act as eyes and ears for the University Police and to assist them in the performance of their duties. The program provides the student with an excellent introduction to law enforcement and related police-citizen cooperative programs. Being a paid position, it also helps to defray the costs of a college education.

Each evening from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. members conduct a walking patrol of the campus. This patrol provides surveillance in areas which are not easily accessible by car. Patrolling members also make certain that buildings are secure and occupied by only authorized personnel.

One of the most important functions of the Student Patrol is the Escort Service they provide Monday thru Friday from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.. Anyone on campus who would feel more comfortable in being escorted to their vehicle is strongly encouraged to use one of the red campus phones and call extension 5155. The message will be promptly dispatched and two members of the Student Patrol summoned to escort the individual to their vehicle.

Don't risk walking

Your University Program Board

These folks are members of the University Program Board, UM-St. Louis' only campus wide programs and activities committee.

But there is something missing . . . "U"!

The University Program Board should be 15 students, and currently we have only 9. That's where "U" come in. Consider stopping by 250 University Center and picking up an application, your ticket to fame. "U" can get your picture in the campus paper, go to great places (like Peoria) and volunteer much of your time to helping select and produce programs for the University Community.

... OH! - and remember these faces! These guys have been giving a lot of their time already, and need to hear your explanations and suggestions for campus activities. If you don't have any ideas, just say hi!

LOST?

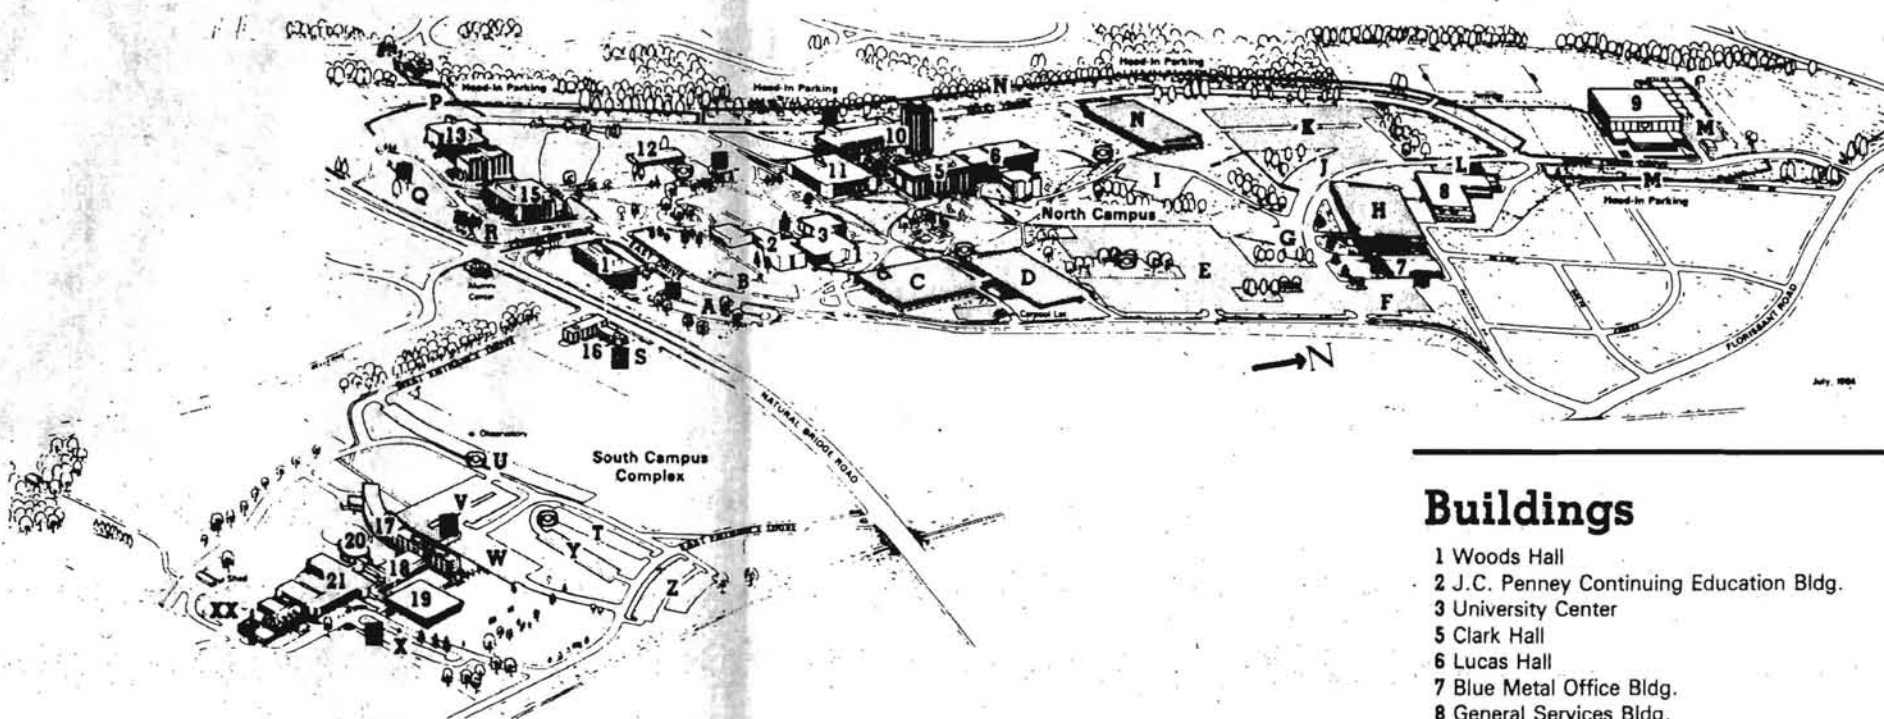

Here are some simple directions on how to get to the university. Take I-70 to Florissant Road south (Exit 240A), two blocks south to back campus entrance. Or, I-170 to Natural Bridge Road, about one mile east to the 3rd stop light, left into main campus entrance. (South Campus entrance one third mile further on Natural Bridge Road).

If fighting the rush hour traffic to take a test is not your style, then the Office of Student Activities has information on car pooling, van pooling and public transportation that serves the campus.

The office is located in 250 University Center. You can stop by between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday or call 553-5536. Bi-State bus schedules are also available in this office.

Anthropology Self-Quiz Why Study Anthropology?

- ☐ a. Study Anthropology and work in exotic places.
☐ b. Study Anthropology and work in Missouri.

In the global village of the 1980's where many cultures converge in cities like St. Louis and where each of us depends daily on work done by people from distant lands who speak, live, worship and think differently from ourselves, it is amazing that most college freshman do not know what anthropology is.

Anthropology is the study of humankind. Many fields study aspects of the human species. Only anthropology attempts to understand the whole panorama of human experience. As anthropologists, we believe that we cannot fully understand ourselves here in St. Louis unless we have a knowledge of the whole human world around us.

Anthropology puts things into perspective. How can I know that my culture is the greatest, if I do not know about other cultures? In fact, how can I really know about myself and my potential in all areas of life without making a serious study of how I am alike and different from people of all times and places who have come before and who share Earth's resources with me now?

Yes, Anthropology opens doors for travel and work in distant lands and with ancient cultures. It is also useful if you plan to stay in St. Louis.

In the world of the global village, we do not believe that you can afford to ignore Anthropology. Stay at home or plan an international career, Anthropology can only help you create a better place for yourself in the world and a better world to live in.

For details, stop by 607 Tower and ask to see Dr. Van Reidhead.

The band offers academic credit toward degree elective requirements.

● University Players offers students a variety of opportunities for participation in such activities as a playwrights' workshop, faculty/student cast parties, workshops for elementary schools, and the production of about three plays a semester.

Membership in the Players is open to anyone interested in working in theater.

● University Singers offers such activities as St. Louis area performances, group social events, and annual concert tours.

Auditions are held in the Music Building and can be arranged by calling 553-5980.

● Other fine arts organizations include the Swingshift/Madrigal Ensemble.

Religious Organizations

● Baptist Student Union gives students opportunities for Christian growth and outreach or ministry to others. Activities have included weekly Bible studies, many conference trips throughout the United States, retreats, hayrides, parties and activities and camping trips for inner city children.

● Bible Study meets informally once a week in the University Center for weekly Bible study, going through a given book one chapter at a time. In addition the group sponsors Christian concerts and occasional film series, and last year had an information table in the University Center once a week.

● InterVarsity Christian Fellowship provides a forum in which Christian students, faculty and staff can develop in their Christian lifestyle and worldview. Weekly meetings are held on campus to discuss topics of mutual interest or to hear speakers. In the past the group has also attended conferences, social nights, and discussion groups.

● Moriah (Ministries) seeks to familiarize UMSL students with the traditional Judeo-Christian philosophy and lifestyle through the distribution of literature, lectures and movies.

● Newman House seeks to share a common Christian brotherhood. They hold regular retreats, masses, and prayer days, and take part in social and service activities. The group has sponsored trips, dinners, intermurals, dances, and guest speakers.

They have also volunteered at a soup kitchen, written letters to Congress about social issues, and have studied social issues such as poverty and nuclear proliferation, and have worked at the Catholic Worker House monthly. All UMSL students are welcome at 8200 Natural Bridge Road every class day.

EVENING COLLEGE

The Evening College of the University of Missouri-St. Louis offers 24 degree programs in Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Nursing that conform to the requirements established by the appropriate school or department.

One non-traditional degree program, the Bachelor of General Studies, is also offered. Approximately, 195 students complete degrees through the Evening College each year.

Degree offerings include the Bachelor of Arts (with 11 major options), the Bachelor of General Studies, the Bachelor of Science (with 6 major areas), the Bachelor of Science in Administration of Justice, the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, the Bachelor of Science in Education, the Bachelor of Science in Public Administration and the Bachelor of Science in Social Work. Minors and certificates are also offered.

Academic advisors assist new and returning students in the selection of appropriate courses and discuss relevant degree requirements. The Evening College office is open 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday.

The Evening College Council represents evening students in matters concerning them. The council is responsible for the Koffee Klatch held each Monday and Tuesday evening from 5 - 9 p.m. In addition, other social events are coordinated by the Council. They provide resource information for non-traditional students, such as income tax seminars and poetry readings in conjunction with the English department.

They also try to link the staff and students with the administration with Meet Your Chancellor Night, an activity during Koffee Klatch hours in which the chancellor and other members of the UM-St. Louis administration visit with the students on a personal level.

Evening College students are encouraged to become involved with the council. For information call 553-5162.

In addition to the council, the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda is the honor society for Evening College students. The organization recognizes students with outstanding academic records. The chapter welcomes new members at its annual banquet held each spring. For information call 553-5161.

Anita D. McDonald
Acting Dean of the
Evening College

How long will it take to complete a degree? The answer, of course, depends on the circumstances unique to each individual.

Important considerations include demands of one's job, family responsibilities, commitment and perseverance. Understandably, employed students sometimes become impatient during the long grind to finish a college degree.

One must carefully weigh their priorities and make a firm commitment despite weariness and temporary setbacks.

Most evening students enter the university after having attended at least one other institution of higher education. Most have heavy demands on their time and energy. Most are in a hurry.

A survey of graduates of the Evening College revealed a wide range in the number of semesters required to complete a degree. This number is obviously related to the number of hours accumulated prior to entering the university. The typical student enrolled in the Evening College completes a degree in ten semesters.

Sure it is tough, but most graduates of the Evening College have many years to enjoy the benefits of their efforts. If you become weary and discouraged, remember there are a lot of people who have finished the course who say, "It was worth it."

(Reprinted from the March 10, 1986 edition of the Evening Tide.)

Greek Letter

Greek life concentrates on close friendships, high scholastic ideals, personal development, and community service. Each year the campus fraternities and sororities hold dances, bashes, informal gatherings, scholarship workshops, road trips, contests for charity, parents appreciation dinners, and alumni dinners.

In the past the community service activities have included participation in the K-SHE Kite Fly, March of Dimes Phone-a-thon, KWMU Walkathon, Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, and the Judevine Center's Festival of Trees. In addition, many Greeks are active in other campus organizations as well.

Sororities

There are three National Panhellenic Conference sororities on campus. Formal rush for all groups is held starting August 17 in the J.C. Penney building. More information can be obtained from the Office of Student Activities, 250 University Center, 553-5536. After August 26, interested women may contact each individual sorority.

● Alpha Xi Delta was the first national sorority on campus, founded locally in 1968 and nationally in 1893. Colors are light blue, dark blue and gold. The badge of membership is the quill; the flower is the pink Killarney rose, and the mascot is the teddy bear.

● Zeta Tau Alpha, or Zetas, were founded nationally in 1898. Colors are steel grey and turquoise blue. The badge is a shield of black superimposed on a shield of gold; the flower is the white violet, and the mascot is the ladybug.

● Delta Zeta was founded nationally in 1902. Colors are old rose and green. The badge is the Roman lamp; the flower is the Killarney rose, and the mascot is the turtle.

Fraternities

Fraternity rush for men is conducted differently from that of the sororities. Interested men should contact each fraternity directly for more information.

● Sigma Pi was the first men's national fraternity on campus, founded in 1969. Sigma Pi currently holds the highest all-men's grade point average of all the men's organizations on campus. In the past, the fraternity held the Greek Week champions' spot for fourteen years in a row. Visit the fraternity house at 8645 Natural Bridge.

● Pi Kappa Alpha, Zeta Phi chapter, established itself on campus in 1969. The Pikes have won Greek Week for the past four years and sponsor a pumpkin pie eating contest each Thanksgiving with benefits going to the St. Vincent's Orphanage in Normandy. This year they will be sponsoring their 14th annual spring break trip to Florida.

Greeks Chow Down For Charity

Visit the fraternity house at 8826 Natural Bridge. Rush parties are held every Wednesday night.

● Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Omicron Omicron chapter, or Tekes, celebrated its eleventh year on campus last year, and are members of the fraternity with the most chapters in the country. Tau Kappa Epsilon is also an international fraternity. One yearly event includes a keg roll with benefits going to St. Jude's Children's Hospital. Call the Teke hotline at 739-1505 for a recorded message on party dates and times.

Other Greek Letter organizations on campus include Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Lambda, Gamma Nu Phi, Interfraternity Council, Kappa Alpha Psi, Inc., Kappa Delta Pi, Panhellenic Association, Pi Sigma Epsilon, Sigma Gamma Rho, and Sigma Tau Gamma.

On behalf of the UM-St. Louis Student Association, welcome to the campus. The Student Association exists to provide student participation in the general administration and government of UMSL. The Student Association is working towards full student participation in university life, university affairs and policy decisions in addition to encouraging students to govern themselves and assume responsibility for their government. The Student Association achieves its objectives by working with faculty and administration as elected representatives of the student body and is responsible for presenting student concerns to the Student Association Assembly where legislation is approved. Student opinion to the faculty and administration is communicated through the University Senate. Elections for membership on the Assembly and Senate are held in April. Freshman and transfer students can be elected to the Student Association Assembly in September.

Assembly meetings have been tentatively scheduled for the second Sunday of each month during the academic year and are open to all. We strongly encourage you to become involved in student government through direct election to the Assembly or Senate, through membership and participation on Assembly and Senate committees, or through membership and participation in student groups.

The Student Association maintains an office in room 262 of University Center. We are open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Feel free to drop by for more information on student affairs or give us a call at 553-5105.

Survival Guide For All Students; New, Returning

A New Semester

● If you're new to the campus, take a half hour to walk around and discover the bookstore, the library, the videos in the Summit Lounge, the study areas in the classroom buildings, the weight room and swimming pool in the Mark Twain Building. Scope out each of your classrooms before the first day of school - you'll be able to relax knowing you won't be late because you got lost.

● Wait until you've attended your first classes before purchasing any books. Often you won't actually need everything listed in the bookstore. It is a good idea, however, to check out the textbooks under each of your class headings in advance - you'll know what the professor is talking about when he or she tells you what to buy.

● Learn your way around the Thomas Jefferson Library. This goes for seniors as well! It's never too late. The endless resources tucked away there may seem overwhelming, but once you learn the system, you'll be surprised how much easier paper-writing and research can be. If you don't know how to proceed, ask for help. You'll be glad you did.

● Eat lunch or breakfast in the cafeteria at least once a week - by yourself or with someone else. You'll see old friends familiar faces from classes, and - lo and behold - a professor or two! You'll make new friends as well, as long as you remain receptive.

● Make an effort to learn what campus organizations can offer you, and then join one. You'll build a network of friends and acquaintances at UM-St. Louis that will stay with you after you graduate. In addition, you can learn new skills and make use of ones you already have. Many organizations tie together social, academic and service elements for a well rounded program. Check with the Office of Student Activities in the University Center for information about organizations.

● Take five minutes after each class to introduce yourself to the professor. Whether there are 20 or 200 in your class, you'll stand out if you've spoken directly with the teacher. Don't be afraid! They were once college students as well.

● Make a friend in each class. This can be vital to your success, especially if you ever need to borrow notes. In addition, studying together can be twice as effective if you're having trouble, don't try to grasp the theory of evolution or relativity all on your own. Two heads, or even three, are better than one!

Academic Actions

● Advisors say that the biggest mistake students make is not owning an UM-St. Louis academic catalog. In it are requirements for graduation in specific areas of study, and other general information necessary to planning a solid academic agenda. Catalogues may be purchased at the campus bookstore - a worthwhile investment considering the time and money you'll save by not taking classes you won't need.

● The second biggest mistake? Not seeing an advisor before planning each semester's classes.

● For students wishing to graduate soon: it may be just a wish if you don't file a degree application a year in advance. Once you've submitted the form advisors will notify you of any lack in your credits before it's too late.

● Transfer students especially need the help an advisor can offer, because the chances are high you'll repeat a class or think a class is transferring when it isn't.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

Forensics and Debate Club

After a record setting Winter 1987 semester which saw the UM-St. Louis Debate/Forensics Squad garner a school record, 28 trophies in one semester, coach Tom Preston, an assistant professor in the Department of Speech Communication, is looking forward optimistically to the 1987-88 season. Plans for the 1987-88 year include eight local tournaments, as well as trips to Southern Connecticut State University in New Haven and St. Mary's College in San Antonio, Texas. The season will culminate with national tournaments—debate in Colorado and for individual speaking events at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona.

Two events on the UM-St. Louis campus highlight the 1987-88 schedule. For the first time ever, a team from UM-St. Louis will participate in international competition when the British Debate Team visits the UM-St. Louis campus on October 13. On February 26 and 27 of the Winter Semester, UM-St. Louis will host the Missouri Association for Forensic Activities State Championships here. Along with these events, UM-St. Louis will host its annual college tournament on October 10-11.

"With the quality of schedule we have and the quality of people entering the program this year, we are very optimistic," said Preston. "Also, hosting the British team and state tournament will expose many UM-St. Louis students to excellent debate and will enable more to participate in the program who would not be able to travel with us every other weekend."

Five returning competitors and ten newcomers will form the core of the 1987-88 squad. Seniors John Bernier and Hilary Shelton are expected to highlight the returning cast, while newcomers Lisa Terry and Steve LaChance, both junior transfers, and freshman Mike Boyd will lead the state of newcomers. "We expect to have much greater balance this year," said Preston. "Furthermore, the newcomers seem to fit in very well. We should have an exciting, fun, and successful year, if the work we've done so far is any indication." Preston also noted the outstanding work of Pi Dappa Delta Forensics Society executive council member Suzan Harris of UM-St. Louis during the summer months.

"While we are excited about the new team, we still welcome new members to join the squad," said Preston. He emphasized that no previous experience was necessary to compete on the intercollegiate level of forensics, but said, "The activity does take time if the student is to perform well."

This year, the University also adds Scott Jensen, who last summer earned a masters degree at Central Missouri State University, as an assistant coach. "Scott will add a whole new dimension to forensics coaching at this university," said Preston. "We at Central Missouri will miss Scott's help dearly," said Jeanette Valenti, a varsity debater at CMSU.

Any student interested in joining the forensics squad should contact either Jensen or Preston at the Speech Department by September 10. All undergraduates, whether full time or part time, are eligible to compete.

Disabled Students Union promotes understanding, sensitivity and accessibility for students with disabling conditions. Each spring the club sponsors Disabled Awareness Week with such activities as wheelchair basketball games, disability simulations (in which non-disabled people use a wheelchair or crutches for part of a day), and, last year, a demonstration of therapeutic horsemanship by New Horizons.

For more information call the DMI Coordinator at 553-5211.

International Students Organization promotes international understanding and cultural exchange for UMSL students, and assists in the acclimation of new International students to the campus and city.

ISO sponsors International Week each fall, featuring dances from many countries, cultural artifact displays, native dress, music and a cultural potpourri. Those interested in volunteering to welcome new international students are asked to contact Marilyn Ditto at 553-5211 or call the International House, 385-5860.

Kayak Club emphasizes learning essential river safety techniques and basic kayak skills. The UMSL pool and all kayak gear are available to club members for an eight-week teaching and demonstration session held every semester. Other activities possible include films on water safety, float trips and participation in the annual kayak race at Fredericktown.

Membership is limited and on a first come basis. Inquire at room 203, Mark Twain, or call 553-5125.

Chess Club meets on a regular basis to discuss strategies, play and meet socially. The club hopes to hold several U.S.C.F. rated tournaments that will be open to the general public.

Cadet Club is a curriculum oriented club designed to provide social and academic involvement for ROTC cadets, potential ROTC students and others. The club sponsors garage sales, float trips, a hayride, the turkey bowl, intramural teams, parties and picnics, formals, and leadership labs and field training exercises.

ARMY ROTC ON PATROL

The UM-St. Louis Army ROTC cadets have just completed the 1986-87 program year with a variety of significant accomplishments. So far, UM-St. Louis ROTC has commissioned or scheduled to commission 12 students as brand-new Army Second Lieutenants.

Over the summer, the detachment sent 10 juniors to Camp Warrior at Fort Riley, Kansas. All 10 cadets successfully completed the camp, with UM-St. Louis student, Scott Leary, scoring as one of the top cadets in the 6-week summer program.

For Camp Challenge, 5 sophomores went to Fort Knox, Kentucky for fun in the sun. All 5 completed the rigorous program and will continue into the Advanced ROTC course during the 1987-88 season.

In total, 5 Army ROTC scholarships were awarded by the UM-St. Louis Department of Military Science. All scholarship winners have accepted their awards, and now have the remainder of their college years paid for.

The activities and clubs are starting to gear-up for the upcoming semester. The first activity will be a canoe trip down the mighty Meramec River. Anyone interested in signing up for fall semester classes or for the activities and clubs may contact CPT. Jon Boyle at the Department of Military Science, 44 Blue Metal Building, 553-5176 or 553-5193.

- in gaining admission to medical, dental, law and other professional schools. Our success rate in placing our graduates in professional schools is superb. In fact, to date more than 100 UM-St. Louis Chemistry graduates have received the Ph.D., M.D., or other advanced degrees.

Choose from various programs to suit your needs. We offer both the B.S. and B.A. Degrees in Chemistry or the B.A. Degree in Chemistry with Teacher Certification or with Business Option. We also offer the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees... but that comes later.

The Chemistry Department's facilities and faculty are first-rate. Two years ago we were selected by the University as an "eminence" program - the first program so designated at UM-St. Louis and one of only eight in Missouri.

Our Department is growing to... fast! The new Science Complex under construction will house expanded classroom, laboratory and research facilities. Also, our computer chemistry facilities are second-to-none.

So reach for the future! Choose an exciting and challenging career in science and medicine. Choose chemistry! For details, stop by 324 Benton Hall and ask to see the Chairperson Dr. Lawrence Barton.

Remember, your future depends on what you choose now!

Attention Evening Students Of UM-St. Louis

Early in the twentieth century Albert Einstein formulated his theory of relativity, which dealt with the relationship of energy and matter at a certain critical speed. Late that same century, Phil Neale, President of the Evening College Council, found Einstein's theory to have merit. And further, he found that it applied directly to persons attending UM-St. Louis as an evening student. That is, one should apply his or her energy to what matters to them. Join the Evening College Council and we shall discover what matters are relative to the evening student.

School Of Optometry

UM-St. Louis School Of Optometry would like to invite you to visit the Optometry Clinic facility located at 135 Marillac Hall on the South Campus. The clinic is open to the public as well as to students, faculty, and staff of the University. The clinic's primary goal is to provide patients with high quality vision care practitioners to serve the citizens of Missouri and the region is the schools overall goal. To achieve this, we have supervision by licensed optometrists and the latest, state-of-the-art instruments.

The first step in an examination at the Primary Care Clinic is an assessment of your eye health. A comprehensive examination requires about two hours. Third and fourth year students under the supervision of clinically qualified faculty perform the exam. Two hours allows for a comprehensive examination and an accurate diagnosis.

Should you require specialized services, you will be referred to the appropriate clinic area. Clinic specialties include contact lenses, binocular vision, low vision, ocular health assessment, and specialized visual analysis. These clinics utilize advanced equipment and techniques. They are prepared to handle patients needing care beyond the standard examination and treatment procedures offered in a general eye examination.

We strive to provide our patients with a clinical facility designed to offer highest quality vision care. Health education is an important aspect of this service. We believe you deserve to be well-informed about your vision and eye health. We provide referral services to and from practitioners throughout Missouri and the Midwest.

All examinations are by appointment. To obtain additional information about the services offered by the Optometry Clinic, please call 553-5131.

"It's not just the music, it's the whole experience!"

"I enjoy the opportunity to travel with a group I can take pride in ... and with virtually all expenses paid."

"I've made so many new friends & met some very special people. We work hard, but we also enjoy lots of fun times together out-sides of rehearsal."

"It's a chance to develop and contribute your abilities to the group effort to produce something that has lasting value for yourselves and others."

"I wish I hadn't waited a year to audition!"

"The scene was Washington, D.C. ... and here we were at the Kennedy Center, the sophisticated national center of culture ... waiting for OUR University Singers to present their concert ... and I was very, very impressed."

The performance was totally professional, a top class act that any choral group would be hard-pressed to follow. This was OUR school, OUR university, OUR campus out there in front, setting a standard of such high quality and excellence."

Women's Studies at UMSL is part of a national movement which promotes a fuller educational experience for both women and men.

Over the past fifteen years, scholars have increasingly turned their attention to women in their research and writing, and the new scholarship forms the basis for Women's Studies courses.

Women's Studies courses are offered in a variety of disciplines and include the study of women of diverse races, classes and social conditions. All courses fill one of the general education requirements and are open to all UMSL students.

Historical Manuscripts,

University Archives

The Western Historical Manuscript Collection in the Thomas Jefferson Library documents St. Louis' rich cultural heritage, a heritage waiting for the research efforts of enterprising students. The collection provides primary source material—organizational records, personal papers, oral history interviews, audio and video tapes—to students in history, English, political science, art and other disciplines. In addition to making these research materials available, the WHMC staff is on hand to suggest paper topics and possible areas of study.

The collections reflect important and often overlooked dimensions of local history. For instance, one of the country's first anti-nuclear lobbying groups, the Committee for Nuclear Information, began here, as did one of the first correctional halfway houses, the Dismas House. The Democratic Party first adopted a woman's suffrage plank at its 1916 convention in St. Louis. An emergency convention of the Socialist Party of America the following year voted to oppose U.S. involvement in World War I.

During the Depression, the St. Louis riverfront became the site of the country's largest Hooverville shantytown. A local social service agency called the Bureau for Men served as a national model for the establishment of soup kitchens and cafeterias to help feed the unemployed in the 30s. Evicted sharecroppers in Southeast Missouri organized a sit-down strike in 1939; labor strikes proliferated in St. Louis during the years following the Second World War.

The list of St. Louis natives whose lives are documented by the collection includes MEDICO founder Thomas Dooley, rock performer Chuck Berry, pioneer environmentalist Kay Drey, consumer activist Alberta Slavin and Lieutenant Governor Harriett Woods.

The Western Historical Manuscript Collection is located on the second floor of the Thomas Jefferson Library using the southwest stairwell. The collection remains open from 8–5 daily, until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays. For more information, call 553-5143.

Where did the ducks on Bugg Lake go in the winter? Where did Bugg Lake go between semesters? Students have found the answers to these and other questions at the University Archives located on the second level (southwest stairwell) of the T.J. Library.

Among other things, the Archives houses publications, reports, studies, and office files created at UMSL. Collections include fully indexed back issues of the Current (dating from 1960, when it was called the Tiger Cub), yearbooks, student directories, and photographs of campus events.

If you are doing research for a paper, or just have a question about UMSL's past, the University Archives is open from 8 a.m.–5 p.m. (and until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays). Reference service is available. What's a "Bugg" anyway?

Affirmative Action

The Affirmative Action Office has specific responsibility for the University's compliance with civil rights laws and regulations regarding discrimination based on race, sex, color, national origin, religion, age or handicap.

The office compiles data and prepares analyses on the campus' progress in increasing the number of members of protected groups. Most of these analyses are included in our Annual Report which is on reserve in the Thomas Jefferson Library.

The Affirmative Action Office also counsels UMSL students who believe they have been discriminated against because of race, sex or disability.

Although the University grievance procedures available to students are administered through the Office of Student Affairs and the Office of Academic Affairs, students may receive confidential information and advice on such issues as sexual harassment and discrimination in the classroom or in classroom materials in the affirmative Action Office.

The Affirmative Action Office is located in Woods 440 and is open from 8 a.m. – 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For information, call 553-5695.

Athletes Look To Improve Marks In 1987-88

After successful seasons in 1986-87, UMSL's sports teams will be looking to improve last year's marks as the 1987-88 year begins with the Rivermen celebrating its twentieth soccer season.

When the men's soccer team takes the field Sept. 4 against Quincy College in Springfield, Ill., the Rivermen will just be starting a schedule which features many nationally ranked schools, Division I and II.

Three new faces, all area freshmen, will be joining the Rivermen soccer team for the 1987 season and will hope to help improve last year's 13-5-2 mark. Included on the list of new freshmen is goalie Amy Wibbenmeyer, sister of Riverman soccer star Scott Wibbenmeyer. The former Wibbenmeyer was a three year starter at John F. Kennedy High School.

Volleyball, in 1987, is coming off one of its most successful seasons at UMSL. First-year coach Denise Silvester received "Co-Coach of the Year" honors as her team finished second in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, 28-14 overall.

Riverman basketball promises to be exciting in 1987-88 as coach Rich Meckfessel has all but two athletes returning. After a slow start in 1986-87, the Rivermen rounded out the conference season with a respectable 7-7 mark.

With Gina Gregory, UMSL's all-time leading scorer and rebounder, locked away in the history books, the Riverwomen basketball team will be looking to the future in 1987-88. The Riverwomen can only improve their 12-16 record from last year with the injury riddled 1986-87 season behind them.

Coach Mary Liston saw her swimmers capture 12 new records last year as her team finished with a 7-9 overall record. The 1986-87 season was highlighted with a second place finish at the Midwest Invitational.

As a strong nucleus returns for the 1987 season, coach Jim Brady believes that pitching and defense will be the two keys for a successful Spring.

With six all-conference selections returning, the Riverwomen softball team is coming off its best finish ever in the MIAA.

The tennis and golf teams will also be competing this spring and will hope to continue the success that each experienced in 1987.

All students are encouraged to attend any UMSL sporting events. Admission is free with a valid student ID.

All athletic teams are open to walk-on athletes. Anyone who is interested in participating should contact the athletic department at 553-5641.

Various Fitness Facilities Offered

Do you need a place to stay in shape during the long winter months? Why not use the facilities available at UMSL? The Mark Twain Athletic Complex and the UMSL campus have something for everyone.

The gymnasium in the Mark Twain Building offers a number of activities. Students can play basketball, volleyball, badminton, or jog the one-tenth of a mile indoor track.

Also in the Mark Twain Building there are four racquetball/handball courts, a weight room, and an exercise/wrestling room. The weight room is equipped with both free weights and universal machines. The exercise room contains an exercise mirror, a dance bar, and mats.

An Olympic-sized pool with six lanes and two diving boards is also located in the Mark Twain Building.

For those who prefer outdoor activities, the UMSL campus offers a number of facilities. Outside the Mark Twain Building, one can choose from six tennis courts or four racquetball/handball courts. A large intramural field can be used for a variety of sports including softball, football, and soccer.

A recent addition to the UMSL campus is the Fit-Trial. The Fit-Trial is a 1 1/4 mile jogging course which begins in front of the Mark Twain Building. The jogger runs the course and stops at each of the twenty stations to perform various exercises. The trail relieves the boredom of jogging and promotes total body fitness. It is designed for persons of all ages and has instructions for beginning and advanced levels of use.

These facilities are open to any currently enrolled student, staff or faculty member. Any questions can be answered by calling the athletic department at 553-5641.

CELEBRATING: Riverman soccer kicks off its twentieth season at UMSL.

Intramural Activities Set To Begin September 9

The intramural office is again offering a variety of activities with something that should appeal to everyone. These programs promote not only competition and fitness, but a chance for everyone to participate and meet new friends.

Activities include basketball, volleyball, touch football, racquetball, and golf. Students may also choose from softball, bowling, hoc soc, tennis, and badminton. Other offerings are superstars, mini-marathon, soccer, weightlifting white water kayaking, and orienteering.

One of the most interesting intramural programs is the "Swim The Mississippi" club. Participants schedule their own time to use the Mark Twain pool and then swim laps. They continue this until they have covered the entire length of the river. This event begins in September and runs the entire semester.

In addition to the regular activities, a number of special events will be held this year. These will include a softball tournament and barbecue, a tennis tournament, a 1 1/4 and 3 mile Fun Run, a racquetball clinic and tournament, a basketball free throw contest and hot shot tourney, and a punt, pass, and kick contest.

These sports are offered for men, women, and co-ed teams. Faculty and staff members are also invited to participate.

Any questions concerning schedules, rules, or eligibility requirements can be answered at the intramural office, room 203 of the Mark Twain Building, or call 553-5125.

UNIVERSITY HISTORY

The 128-acre parcel of land on which the campus sits began as the old Bellerive Country Club, a playground for its affluent members.

They swam in the lake, walked their golf course, and paraded through their immaculate clubhouse during summer dances. The course itself was formidable enough for use in deciding two Western Amateur Open golf championships — one in 1949 and the other in 1953.

However, desiring to escape the spreading urban sprawl of St. Louis county, the membership of the club moved their facility to its present location at Ladue and Mason roads.

In April 1958, with difficulties in selling the old land mounting because of Bellerive city ordinances, the land was offered to the Normandy School District.

The school district was eager to purchase the land and buildings, for it meant that an elementary school and a community college could be added to the struggle of keeping up with the explosion of a student population within their district.

A bond issue was presented to voters on September 30, 1958, and passed 3,241 to 1,547. The bonds generated sold quickly, and on February 13, 1959, the school district acquired title to the property.

As the country club began its withdrawal, the Normandy educators surveyed their needs and goals. Discovering a substantial interest among the junior and senior classes at Normandy and other high schools, the district established the University of Missouri-Normandy Residence Center. UM agreed to pay the faculty and provide a library; the school district would furnish an administrator and supplement supplies and maintenance.

The first classes held at the infant university were on September 14, 1960. Four full-time faculty members taught 215 freshman students.

C.E. Potter was installed as the first administrator, and he hired eight part-time instructors to boost instructional capability.

One of the Normandy educators who helped bring the university into being was Ward E. Barnes. Barnes, a St. Louis educator for over 35 years, helped get the original bond issue passed.

During those early years, Barnes was a driving force behind the building of the enrollment and curriculum of the university.

UM President Elmer Ellis strongly desired that the University of Missouri expand the facility to a four-year branch of the UM system.

Barnes, working with his close friend Dr. Ellis, changed this desire into a reality.

Barnes recalled getting a phone call from Ellis one Saturday morning: "Ward," he said, "Do you really think you can get 100 students to enroll in that program you're setting up?" And he replied, "Elmer I really think we will."

At that point, and a 1961-62 enrollment of over 400 students, discussions began.

Ellis offered the Normandy School district $60,000 for the Residence Center, but a dispute over the bidding process necessary in state land transfer stalled Ellis's attempts of acquisition.

Considerable lobbying by Ellis, the UM Board of Curators and Governor John Dalton sparked editorial support from the St. Louis press, who compared the local situation with that of Kansas City, where the University of Kansas City was also being sought as a branch of the UM system. On Feb. 13, 1963 Bill 115 passed through the state House of Representatives by a vote of 150-3. Instrumental in its passage were state Senator Wayne Goode (D-fifth district) and Sen. Robert Young. Dalton signed the bill authorizing the sale on April 3, 1963.

The Residence Center had charged students $15 per credit hour, with a $50 downpayment required. Students outside the Normandy district were charged an additional $45. The center was not adequately supported financially. It had virtually no laboratory facilities, was extremely overcrowded into one building (the old clubhouse), and its library was stocked with around 900 dusty books.

However, students quickly organized their first student government, which empowered itself to collect a 15¢ parking fee and the accompanying $1. fine for illegally-parked cars.

As enrollment increased to 564 (Sept. 28, 1962), students had started the Tiger Cub newspaper and formed chorales and intramural sports programs.

The gregariousness of the earliest students is recorded by the Nov. 21, 1962 issue of the Tiger Cub. A strong editorial urging the curtailment of drinking on campus, linked with a ban on card playing in the school's only cafeteria, attest to some of the issues of the day.

Evidently things were out of hand, because the faculty handed 388 out of 551 students mid-term deficiencies. Administrator Potter also prohibited the wearing of burmuda shorts on campus, because they were not consistent with the school's dress code.

The infant university has come a long way since then. We now have a combined total of over 20 buildings in the north and south campuses, with plans for a science complex in the works as well as an addition to the Thomas Jefferson Library.

Enrollment is in excess of 11,000 students, and graduate programs are available in most departments. The emerging university has become an integral part of St. Louis higher education, with seemingly unlimited room for growth.
